FROM

THE PATRON

Volunteers play a vital role in Headway Essex, bringing many qualities and skills which really enrich the organisation.

They work in the Day Centre and are involved in many different activities, including computer skills training, adult basic education, cooking, driving, one to one project work and gardening. There are volunteers within the Community Support Service, giving talks to schools, making tea and lending a listening ear. There are volunteers working in the fundraising office, helping with administration, answering the telephone, supporting and running events and counting collection boxes!

The Headway Board of Trustees is made up of volunteers and they are responsible for ensuring that the charity is run legally and efficiently. Their skills sets are wide reaching covering many different disciplines such as the Law, Finance, Health, Business, Social Care and Education. Carers and people with brain injury are also represented on the Board by volunteers.

I have seen at first hand the fantastic care that Headway provides for people with brain injuries and am proud to be associated with such a hardworking and worthwhile organisation.

This year a total of 7190 hours have been dedicated to Headway by its volunteer team – what would Headway do without them?

I would like to give my heartfelt thanks to all who give up their time to Headway and to those in the community who fundraise to ensure that the Headway services for people living with brain injury and their families continue to make a difference.
