

Rehabilitation After Brain Injury

Our support workers will be able to assess whether you would benefit from attending our brain injury rehabilitation day service, or our brain injury education and vocational programme.

Psychotherapy Following Brain Injury

Psychotherapy helps to alleviate psychological distress following acquired brain injury.

The psychotherapy offered by Headway Essex includes:

- Therapy with individuals
- Therapy for couples
- Psychosexual therapy

Other Local Organisations

We may direct you to another agency or organisation to support you with your specific problem. We will be able to tell you which is the right one to go to and save you valuable time and stress involved in researching it yourself.

Other leaflets in this series include:

- Has someone you know had a brain injury?
- Understanding your brain.

Contact Us - We Can Help You!

If you are unsure of what type of support you need and what may be available to you, or would just like to talk to someone who has an understanding of brain injury, please call us. There are Headway community support workers and support group meetings across Essex.

The Headway Essex Help Line is available for you to call 8.30am to 4.30pm Monday to Friday (except on public holidays). Messages can be left out of hours and will be responded to.

Improving Life After Brain Injury

Have you had a brain injury?

Piecing lives back together

You may have picked this leaflet up from a hospital ward, doctor's surgery or have been handed it by a friend or health professional. If so, this is likely to be because you have suffered an acquired brain injury. This may be something that has just happened or it may be something that happened many years ago.

The brain injury may have been caused by trauma; something as simple as a domestic fall or a bang on the head, to major trauma such as a road collision or assault. Or it may have been caused by non-traumatic injuries such as a tumour, infection or a bleed or blood clot to the brain (stroke). You may look the same but behave very differently, or you may have physical disabilities.

The effects of the injury can mean a long recovery process and they can sometimes be permanent and life changing; not only for you but also for your family and friends.

"When you come out of hospital you do not realise how much you need the support of people who have been through the same experience."

Brain Injury Survivor

You might need help in dealing with a range of emotions you find yourself experiencing, or just want to understand more about brain injury, its effects and the specialist support available, or simply to talk to someone who understands exactly what you are going through. We are here to help you, just call us.

How can Headway Essex Help?

We are here to listen, help and support you, at any stage from the hospital bedside to many years down the line. We can help in a number of ways:

Brain Injury Support and Advice Help-Line

Our help-line can provide a listening ear, an immediate response to a cry for help and a true understanding of the issues you face. Just call us.

Community Support Team

When you contact us you will have access to the community support team who are experienced in the effects and impact of brain injury. They can provide you with direct emotional and practical support.

Finances

Before the brain injury you might have contributed to the household income. Headway can help you to find out what benefits you are entitled to. We can also advise where to access support if you are trying to balance a job while dealing with the brain injury.

Literature and Information

We can provide you with information and numerous publications on all aspects of brain injury and topics surrounding brain injury.

Brain Injury Education Workshops

Our training seminars will teach you and your family/friends about how the brain works, what the effects of an acquired brain injury can be and how you can manage the effects. This helps to ensure you are appropriately supported which enables you to make the best possible recovery and makes sure you are equipped to cope with the effects of your injury.

Support Group Meetings

Attending one of our support groups will provide the opportunity to talk to others in similar situations, to share information and to hear from experts in the field of brain injury rehabilitation as well as updates and relevant information on many other topics. We also provide support group meetings for your family and friends. Our support group meetings are held in various locations across Essex.
